

May 10, 2016

To Whom It May Concern:

Over the course of the past year, HeurekaCyber and Shawn Key have been instrumental in assisting Joint Task Forces (JTFs), including state and federal law enforcement, with criminal investigations in cyber space. Additionally, the company and Mr. Key provided the Intelligence Community (IC) with valuable information about entities and individuals, known and unknown, that have conducted cyber warfare against financial institutions, sought to engage in terrorist activity and conducted other nefarious activities. HeurekaCyber's solution and processes have contributed a valuable service and served as a force multiplier to several investigations where law enforcement and the IC's resources were not available or insufficient to tackle the issue at hand.

HeurekaCyber and Shawn Key have served as a resource for CNN, contributing information and findings on criminal investigation matters that the media found to be of concern, and that were anonymously incorporated into reporting that made headline news.

In the area of detecting cyber criminal and/or terrorist activity, HeurekaCyber has strongly positioned itself as an industry leader with its forward thinking research and analysis capabilities. Their unique and differentiated capabilities have proven invaluable in closing numerous critical law enforcement cases, including some cold cases that were considered unsolvable, as well as being used to prevent potentially catastrophic acts of domestic terrorism like the recent San Bernardino attack.

My business partners and I, coming from law enforcement, intelligence and military backgrounds, rely on HeurekaCyber and Shawn Key on our most urgent and critical activities. I am happy to provide my highest recommendation, and I'm happy to speak with anyone who has inquiries.

Respectfully,

Skip Muller
CEO
PerCredo, LLC

PerCredo, LLC
2331 Mill Road, Suite 100, Alexandria VA 22314
skip.muller@percredo.com * 202.670.6591 mobile * www.percredo.com